

Former Top Attorney at Harley-Davidson Named Marquette University's General Counsel

"Marquette University named the former top attorney at Harley-Davidson Inc. as its new vice president and general counsel," reports Sari Lesk in Milwaukee Business Journal's Education.

"Paul Jones starts Jan. 4 in his new position. He spent 10 years as an executive officer for the Milwaukee-based motorcycle manufacturer. There, he managed Harley's global legal risk and oversaw the company's legal matters, according to the Milwaukee university."

"The Milwaukee Business Journal named Jones a top corporate counsel in 2019. Jones left Harley-Davidson last year as its chief legal officer and chief compliance officer."
