

Four COVID-19 Litigation Trends That Are Affecting Businesses and Individuals

“It has been six months since the initial wave of government mandated ‘stay-at-home’ orders due to the COVID-19 pandemic. During this time, we have seen at least four important litigation trends emerge,” writes Tiffany Caterina in Frankfurt Kurnit Klein + Selz’ News & Press.

The four trends discussed are:

1. Force Majeure
2. Deceptive Trade Practices
3. Business Interruption
4. Workplace Safety
