Healthcare Attorney Lisa Gingerich Joins Michael Best

Lisa M. Gingerich has joined Michael Best's Transactional Practice Group as a partner. Gingerich will be based in the firm's Milwaukee office, focusing her practice on healthcare law.

In a release, the firm said Gingerich represents a variety of clients in the healthcare industry including hospitals, religious and charitable organizations, physician groups, ancillary providers, and suppliers. Gingerich works on transactions, strategic opportunities, and implementation and corporate compliance. She has successfully negotiated and completed numerous acquisitions, reorganizations, mergers, divestitures, and joint ventures, according to the release.

"Lisa's impressive background and her breadth of experience will add great value to our clients in the healthcare space," said David Krutz, firm Managing Partner. "Her industry-leading knowledge and her reputation will be a tremendous asset in our growing healthcare practice."

"The firm's priority in expanding its work in the healthcare industry, combined with the growth and all-encompassing talent of the Michael Best Strategies' healthcare team, will allow me to expand my service offerings to my clients," said Gingerich. "I'm looking forward to joining the firm and working alongside my new colleagues."

Prior to joining Michael Best, Gingerich was a shareholder at a large Wisconsin-based law firm. She started her legal career at Legal Action of Wisconsin, representing low income clients in Southeastern Wisconsin. Gingerich is frequently a speaker on physician practice management, compensation and leasing arrangements, development of strategic alliances, mergers and acquisitions and physician practice models topics. She has also been recognized as AV Preeminent® Peer Review Rated by Martindale Hubbell® and listed in The Best Lawyers in America® in Health Care Law.

Gingerich received her J.D., Dean's Scholar, from California Western and her B.A., Chancellor's Scholar, from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.
