Dallas Lawyer Weston Hall Named Partner at Chamblee Ryan

Weston L. Hall

The Dallas-based trial law firm Chamblee Ryan has promoted firm attorney Weston L. Hall to partner.

In a release, the firm said Hall is experienced in a range of litigation matters, including commercial, trucking/transportation, construction, general liability/personal injury, medical malpractice and premises liability. In addition to trying cases, he has successfully navigated mediations and settlement negotiations. He also consults with corporate clients on contracts, entity formation, and other commercial matters.

“Weston has demonstrated time and again keen insight and a strong work ethic central to reaching favorable outcomes for our clients,” said founding partner Bill Chamblee. “We are very pleased to be able to reward his hard work by naming him a partner here at Chamblee Ryan.”

Shawna
Dalrymple

The firm also announced that senior associate Shawna Dalrymple is now Board Certified in Consumer and Commercial Law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization. Dalrymple’s practice focuses on a wide variety of civil litigation, including medical malpractice, personal injury, premises and product liability, as well as veterinary malpractice.

“Achieving board certification is a real challenge and demonstrates Shawna’s level of knowledge and expertise in consumer and commercial law. It is an important milestone in her career and adds value to our firm,” said Mr. Chamblee. “We are confident that her understanding of commercial law and her litigation skills will exceed the expectations of her clients.”
