

Gruber Hail Johansen Shank Partners Start New Firm

Dallas trial law firm Gruber Hail Johansen Shank LLP has announced that three of its law firm partners are leaving to start their own firm.

Attorneys Trey H. Crawford, Dave Wishnew and Michael J. Lang will launch the new Dallas litigation firm Crawford, Wishnew & Lang PLLC.

“Trey, Dave and Michael are all good lawyers, and they’re our very good friends,” said Mark Shank, managing partner of Gruber Hail Johansen Shank. “I personally want to thank them for their contributions and wish them the very best.”

Gruber Hail Johansen Shank LLP represents clients in complex commercial litigation in Texas and across the nation, the firm said in a release.

Crawford, Wishnew & Lang will counsel business clients in a wide variety of complex commercial disputes.

Of his former partners, Crawford said, “We very much respect and appreciate our friends at Gruber Hail. We look forward to collaborating with them at our new firm at times when our clients can benefit.”
