

Houston Trial Lawyer Courtney Ervin Joins Hicks Thomas

Trial lawyer Courtney Ervin has joined commercial litigation boutique Hicks Thomas LLP.

“Courtney is a highly skilled and effective trial lawyer,” said Hicks Thomas co-founder John B. Thomas. “She is an exceptional advocate and has great instincts. Her addition enhances our diversity and positions us to serve our client needs well into the future.”

In a release, the firm said Ervin has handled multimillion-dollar complex commercial litigation involving a variety of issues and has litigated claims involving many types of contractual challenges. Her focus is on high-stakes commercial litigation in state and federal court and arbitration. She has experience in contract disputes, business torts and insurance coverage. While many of her clients are in the energy industry, Ervin regularly represents those involved in other businesses including insurance, real estate, private equity and information technology.

Ervin was profiled as one of the leading Energy Litigation lawyers in the U.S. in 2016 by The Legal 500 and has repeatedly earned a place on the Texas Rising Stars list recognizing up-and-coming lawyers. She earned her law degree from the University of Houston Law Center, magna cum laude, and her bachelor’s degree from Colorado State University. Ervin is a member of the State Bar of Texas, Houston Bar Association and the Texas Bar Foundation.
