

Barnes & Thornburg Adds Stanley E. Heyman in Corporate Department

Barnes & Thornburg has added Stanley E. Heyman as a partner in the firm's Corporate Department in the Los Angeles office. Heyman concentrates his practice in federal, state and local tax planning, estate planning, tax controversy matters, and probate, estate and trust administration.

The firm said Heyman, who is also licensed as a Certified Public Accountant in California, works with business organizations on tax matters from formation through dissolution. He also advises clients on mergers and acquisitions, real estate tax structuring, executive compensation, pension planning, estate, gift and generation-skipping transfer planning, and works with high net individuals on wealth preservation matters.

Heyman, who was previously at Jackson Tidus, earned his J.D. from the University of Southern California Law Center. He also earned a Master of Business Taxation degree and B.S. from the University of Southern California.
