Bradley Partner Alex Purvis Accepted as American College of Coverage Counsel Fellow

Alex Purvis, a partner in Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP's Jackson, Miss., office, has been accepted as a Fellow in the American College of Coverage Counsel (ACCC).

In a release, the firm said the ACCC engages in a rigorous vetting process prior to inviting a lawyer to become a Fellow. Its Fellows include many of the most prominent members of the insurance law bar.

A member of Bradley's Litigation and Insurance practice groups, Purvis is a litigator and policyholder coverage lawyer whose background includes experience in product liability, construction and complex commercial litigation.

The firm said the ACCC is the preeminent association of U.S. and Canadian lawyers who represent the interests of insurers and policyholders. The ACCC focuses on educating all sectors involved in the field of insurance law – including the judiciary, legal and insurance professionals, law students, and businesses – on cutting edge, emerging and critical issues such as developing trends in insurance law and bad faith, trial practice and alternative dispute resolution, policy formation, and claims handling.
