

Craig Gilley Joins Venable's Communications Practice in Washington, DC

Venable LLP announced that Craig A. Gilley has joined the firm as a partner in Washington, DC, where he will lead the firm's communications practice.

In a release, the firm said Gilley works with regulated communications entities, as well as information technology, education technology, investment, and private equity companies.

Gilley has experience counseling on a range of legal, regulatory, operational, and transactional issues affecting cable operators, broadband providers, internet service providers, video programmers, satellite providers, and wireless/wireline telecommunications providers. He also provides transactional, operational, compliance, and strategic advice to information and educational technology firms

Gilley received his J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center, and his B.A. in History from Brown University.