

Crawford, Wishnew & Lang Adds Employment Attorney

Employment lawyer Emily Stout will join Crawford, Wishnew & Lang PLLC as a partner, the firm announced in a release.

Stout is Board Certified in Labor & Employment from the Texas Board of Legal Specialization. She advises on employment policies, practices, training, and employment benefits and litigates employment, labor, business, and commercial cases on behalf of both corporate and individual clients. She is a certified mediator and offers her services in employment and business cases, the firm said.

“I am extremely excited to bring my skillset to this talented group of lawyers who have built a well-respected practice in such a short period of time,” said Stout. “I will always treasure and fondly remember my years practicing with Clouse Brown. Joining the CWL team was the right move at the right time, and I look forward to the next chapter of my career.”

“Emily and I were adversaries in a noncompete case several years ago and became good friends,” Dave Wishnew said. “We have remained close over the years and have successfully worked together on several cases. I know first-hand the quality of person that Emily is, and we are lucky and thrilled to add such a high-caliber attorney that shares in our firm’s core values.”

Stout was with Crawford, Wishnew & Lang after many years working with Keith Clouse at the firm now known as Clouse Brown PLLC.