David Brunori Joins Quarles & Brady's Business Law Practice Group

David Brunori has joined Quarles & Brady LLP's Washington, D.C. office as a partner in its Business Law Practice Group, the firm announced in a news release.

Brunori specializes in tax and government issues. He is a nationally known state and local tax expert who regularly speaks before practitioners, revenue departments, and legislators. When he is not practicing law, he is a Research Professor at the Trachtenberg School of Public Policy and Public Administration at The George Washington University where he teaches courses in state and local public finance and fiscal federalism. He also teaches state and local tax law at the George Washington University Law School.

He has published numerous books and articles on state and local tax policy. His book State Tax Policy: a Political Perspective, won the 2001 Choice Award. A third edition of his Local Tax Policy: a Federalist Perspective was published in 2013 by the Urban Institute Press. His new book, State Tax Policy: a Primer will soon be published by Rowman & Littlefield.

He received his law degree, cum laude, from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law, his masters in political science from The George Washington University, a bachelor of arts in history, with honors, from The George Washington University, and will receive an executive M.P.P.M. from the University of Pittsburgh, Graduate School of Public and International Affairs in 2018.