

Elizabeth E. Vail and Richard Quatrano Elected to Board Positions

Farrell Fritz announced that Elizabeth E. Vail has joined the board of East Hampton based i-tri. Richard Quatrano has joined the board of Flushing Town Hall.

Vail practices land use, municipal and environmental law in the firm's Water Mill office. She also serves as counsel to the Village of Sag Harbor's Zoning Board of Appeals and to the Village's Historic Preservation and Architectural Review Board. She earned her B.S from Dickinson College and her J.D from St. John's University School of Law.

I-tri (itrigirls.org) is dedicated to transforming young girls' lives and empowering them by building their self confidence through training for youth distance triathlons. Founded in 2010, the original pilot program consisted of eight teenage girls at a local school in East Hampton, New York. I-tri has grown to serve over 700 girls from ten school districts. Liz hopes to provide guidance to help grow this organization as they prepare for continuous, and eventually national, expansion.

Quatrano, who practices corporate law, earned his B.A. from Columbia University and his J.D. from Brooklyn Law School. He said he looks to help Flushing Town Hall (flushingtownhall.org) further achieve their mission of presenting multi-disciplinary global arts that engage and educate the global communities of Queens and New York City.
