

Katz, Marshall & Banks Adds Three to Washington Office

The civil rights, employment, and whistleblower law firm Katz, Marshall & Banks, LLP announced that Jolena Jeffrey and Antuan M. Johnson have joined the firm's Washington office as associates and Marilyn Gabriela Robb has joined as a law clerk.

Prior to joining the firm, Jeffrey was an assistant district attorney at the Queens County District Attorney's Office in New York City. In that role, she managed more than 200 misdemeanor or felony cases, which involved issues including purview of discovery, suppression of evidence, and the legal sufficiency of claims. As a law student, she worked in the Civil Advocacy Clinic, assisting low income persons with employment matters. She also served as the executive editor of the labor and employment law brief. Jeffrey received her J.D. from American University Washington College of Law and her Bachelor of Arts from Babson College.

Johnson was most recently an associate at Debevoise & Plimpton LLP, where he focused his practice on complex commercial litigation matters. As a law student, he served as a teaching fellow for courses on sex equality and sexual harassment in employment and education. He currently serves as a board member for the ERA Coalition, which supports legislative strategies that aim to increase constitutional protections against discrimination. Johnson received his J.D. from Harvard Law School. He also holds a Master of Arts from Yale University and a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Pennsylvania.

Robb previously clerked for Judge Duane Benton of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit. As a law student, she served as editor-in-chief of the Harvard Law & Policy Review, the official legal publication of the American Constitution Society. She also was a student attorney with Harvard Law School's Criminal Justice Institute, representing clients facing misdemeanor and felony charges in Boston criminal courts from arraignment to dismissal. Also during law school, she worked for the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice under President Obama, the ACLU Voting Rights Project, and Arnold & Porter LLP. Robb received her J.D. from Harvard Law School and her Bachelor of Arts from Columbia University.
