

Lynn Pinker Cox & Hurst Adds Sara Chelette as New Partner

Sara Chelette has joined Dallas-based civil litigation firm Lynn Pinker Cox & Hurst as a partner.

Chelette has more than 14 years with a focus on cybersecurity and data privacy.

In a release, the firm said Chelette handles business disputes and commercial litigation for both plaintiffs and defendants in fiduciary duty, trade secret, breach of contract, construction defect, and zoning lawsuits. In addition, she has experience representing shareholders in derivative litigation and advises clients on cybersecurity and data privacy issues, including compliance with the EU's General Data Protection Regulation. She has assisted clients with nationwide data breaches.

Chelette has been recognized by Super Lawyers as a "Texas Rising Star" from 2013-2018 and as a "Texas Super Lawyer" in 2019. She is involved in the Dallas Bar Association's inaugural class of WE LEAD, which is a program empowering female leaders in the legal profession. She also spends time as a volunteer attorney for the Dallas Volunteer Attorney Program (DVAP) and the Human Rights Initiative of Texas.
