

Model Data Access Agreement to Foster Fintech Growth

The Morgan Lewis Tech & Sourcing blog discusses a model agreement developed by the Clearing House as a voluntary starting point to facilitate data sharing between financial institutions and fintech companies.

The model agreement covers such provisions and concepts as flow-down obligations, data breach, liability, warranties and disclaimers, intellectual property, disclosure and consent, termination and suspension, and assignment.

Read the article.