Orsinger, Nelson, Downing & Anderson Attorney Taylor Mohr Earns Family Law Board Certification

Taylor Mohr, an associate at Texas family law boutique Orsinger, Nelson, Downing & Anderson, has earned Board Certification in Family Law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization.

Mohr becomes the firm's 14th attorney to earn Board Certification in Family Law, a distinction that has been earned by less than 1 percent of eligible Texas attorneys, the firm said in a release. Additionally, two of the firm's partners hold Board Certification in a second area of practice.

"Having 14 attorneys board certified in Family Law is a great testament to the talent at our firm," says firm name partner Keith Nelson. "We are extremely proud of Taylor for earning this recognition and for the work she does on behalf of her clients."

Mohr joined ONDA in June 2018. Her practice involves divorce, modifications, enforcements and child custody. She also has experience in estate planning and elder law issues, the firm said.

"I'm passionate about family law and helping people who are facing one of the most difficult times in their lives," says Mohr. "My desire to do my best and to be the best for my clients drove me to achieve this level of distinction in Family Law."

Recognized in the 2017 and 2018 Texas Rising Stars listing by

Super Lawyers magazine, Mohr also has been selected among the National Academy of Family Law Attorneys' Top 10 Under 40 in Texas and the American Institute of Family Law Attorneys' Top 10 Best Female Attorneys.

A graduate of Baylor University and Baylor Law School, Mohr is a member of the State Bar of Texas Family Law section and the Texas Bar College.
