

Segal McCambridge Names Dinesh Dadlani Jersey City Managing Shareholder

Segal McCambridge Singer and Mahoney, Ltd. announced the promotion of Dinesh Dadlani from of counsel attorney to shareholder. The firm has also named Dadlani the managing shareholder of the firm's Jersey City office.

Dadlani has practiced in Segal McCambridge's Jersey City office since 2008 when he joined the firm as an associate with litigation experience.

"My tenure with Segal McCambridge has prepared me for my new role as Managing Shareholder of the firm's Jersey City office," said Dadlani. "Because of my tenure, I take on this role with an immediate understanding of the firm's client-focused, result-driven thought-leadership, and I expect there to be a seamless transition as I step into this position."

In a release, the firm said Dadlani has worked on the defense of corporations, including construction companies and a bi-state municipal agency in personal injury and commercial litigation matters. In addition, he has defended manufacturers and distributors in asbestos litigation and property owners and contractors in property contamination matters. Dadlani has experience in the labor and employment sector, representing transportation manufacturers in personal injury and employment matters.

"Dinesh is an outstanding attorney who has established himself as a strong leader and is a consummate team player. He is vested in the progression and growth of the firm as a whole and the Jersey City practice specifically," said Mark Crane, managing shareholder of the firm's Chicago office.

Dadlani also has counseled and defended clients in arbitration, mediation and administrative hearings.

He received his J.D. from Widener University School of Law and his B.A. in Political Science from the University of Delaware. He is active in the Jersey City professional community, serving on the Hudson County Civil Practice Committee of the Hudson County Bar Association, and is also a member of the Hudson County Ethics Committee. Dadlani is currently a member of Segal McCambridge's firm-wide Diversity Committee.