

Podcast: Legal Writing Pro Is Helping Teach AI to Draft Contracts

Ken Adams has brought his contract expertise to a Pittsburgh artificial intelligence startup, according to the ABA Journal.

The author of A Manual of Style for Contract Drafting has joined LegalSifter, a Pittsburgh artificial intelligence startup. Adams told the Journal that LegalSifter has two main functions: reviewing the other side's contract drafts, and creating contract templates without having to "endlessly reinvent the wheel."

In a podcast, Adams discusses his work on contracts and on the new software.

Read the article and listen to the podcast.