The New Alt-Enabled View On Contracts and Diligence

- Above the Law has started a multi-part series on contract management tools and services in the alt.legal world.

The first installment features a question-and-answer exchange between Above the Law's Ed Sohn and Steve Obenski, chief commercial officer at Kira Systems, a startup focuses on contract analytics.

Topics include how far contract lifecycle management (CLM) technology has progressed in recent years, where the market is headed in 2017, how companies like Kira are moving lawyers to adopt contract analytics, where the technology is headed, and how organizations will behave when everyone is equipped with CLM tools.

Read the article.