

Austin Holland Joins Bradley's Nashville Office as Associate

Austin W. Holland has joined Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP's Nashville office as an associate in the Litigation Practice Group, focusing on financial services.

"It is a pleasure to welcome Austin to our Nashville office," said Bradley Nashville Office Managing Partner Lela Hollabaugh. "Austin's background and experience make him a great addition to our already deep bench of litigators and other Banking and Financial Services Practice Group attorneys who service a broad range of banks, lenders and financial services institutions."

In a release, the firm said Bradley represents six of the 10 largest banks and 16 of the 20 largest mortgage servicers in the United States. Many of the firm's attorneys also serve in leadership roles with various prominent financial services trade organizations including the ACMA, MBA, ACCFSL, AFSA, and AllRegs.

Prior to joining Bradley, Holland worked for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in the Office of Litigation, where he handled matters related to reverse mortgages, bankruptcy, foreclosures, grant recaptures, withdrawals of SAFMR and AFFH rules, religious discrimination, and the Appointments Clause of the U.S. Constitution.

Holland clerked in the Office of the District Attorney in Nashville and the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Middle District of Tennessee.

Holland received his J.D. from Vanderbilt University Law School and his Bachelor of Business Administration from Southwestern Oklahoma State University.