

Contract Management at Manufacturing Companies

Contract Logix has published a research study, “Contract Management at Manufacturing Companies: Roles, Tools, Challenges, & Obstacles,” and made the study available for downloading.

On its website, the company says the study involved 550 contract management professionals across multiple segments of the manufacturing industry.

It covers:

- The management tools they most often use to manage contracts
- The most frequent challenges in contract management
- The biggest obstacles to obtaining a purpose-built solution for Contract Lifecycle Management (CLM)
- And many more insights about the roles and responsibilities of those who handle contracts at manufacturing companies

Download the research study.

Join Our LinkedIn Group