

Webinar: Enterprise Slack – Stay Sane and Secure While Managing EDiscovery

Hanzo will present a webinar on Enterprise Slack on Jan. 10, 2019, at 1:30 p.m. Eastern time.

Slack is a widely adopted collaboration tool for enterprises around the globe that is taking over a fair share of email communications. Many corporations have their playbook all set for standard communications platforms like email. Many platforms even have robust built-in features to preserve data subject to compliance or litigation holds. Slack, however, presents new challenges, with fragmented communications and only limited compliance features. This leaves organizations in a difficult spot as they try to balance workplace collaboration with compliance and ediscovery requirements.

Speakers:

- Matt McCartney, Senior Manager of Forensic and Integrity Services at Ernst & Young LLP
- Jim Murphy, VP of Product at Hanzo

In this webinar, industry experts will discuss the challenges Slack presents corporations as they navigate the delicate balance between collaboration and data risk. They will go over best practices to incorporate in every Slack risk management playbook for compliance and ediscovery and discuss solutions for locating, narrowing the scope and capturing dynamic, complex, unstructured data from apps like Slack.

Register for the webinar.