

Audit Provisions in Services Agreements

Many considerations go into drafting appropriate audit rights, including the types of services that the customer is receiving, and the industry in which the customer's business operates, explain Anastasia Dergacheva and Katherine B. O'Keefe in Morgan Lewis Tech & Sourcing blog.

"In many cases, the customer is the auditing party and the service provider is the audited party, but there are situations where the roles will be reversed," they write.

The article provides an overview of several key issues to consider when drafting audit rights for services agreements.

Read the article.