

Evaluating Current Contracts for Use In the New Year

Snell & Wilmer offers some advice for businesses that may need to take a look at their existing contract templates to evaluate a refresh or, in certain circumstances, a major overhaul.

The article, posted on JDSupra.com, discusses updating contracts for changes in the law, creating a family of templates with consistent legal terms, creating a state addendum for use on contracts across multiple states, new delivery models, and new technologies and techniques.
