Fracking Update From Gibson Dunn

Gibson Dunn presents a 90-minute on-demand webinar that reviews regulatory and litigation developments for hydraulic fracturing (fracking), including national, state and local initiatives to regulate and – in some instances – prohibit fracking.

On its website, the firm says the program discusses the key subjects of these regulations, including disclosure of chemical usage, access to water supplies, and potential groundwater and seismic impacts. It also provides an in-depth view of how these fracking battles are playing out in California and throughout the country with the varying and complex legislative and regulatory initiatives.

The moderator is Thomas McHenry, Partner in Gibson Dunn's Los Angeles office. And the panelists are Rock Zierman, Chief Executive Officer, California Independent Petroleum Association (CIPA), and Jeffrey Dintzer, Partner in Gibson Dunn's Los Angeles office, and a member of the Environmental Litigation and Mass Tort practice group.

Watch the on-demand webcast and see the presentation slides.