

Freshfields Hires Hogan Lovells N.Y. Corporate Head

“Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer has brought on Adam Golden to serve as head of U.S. life sciences transactions, further expanding on the London-founded firm’s recent growth in the U.S. legal market,” reports Sara Merken in Reuters Legal.

“Golden, who advises pharmaceutical, biotech and medical device companies and investors, joins as a partner in New York from Hogan Lovells, where he was head of the New York corporate practice group.”
