Greensfelder Attorney John Hanson Elected Madison County Bar Association Treasurer

Greensfelder, Hemker & Gale, P.C., is pleased to announce that John C. Hanson, an attorney in the firm's Southern Illinois office, has been elected treasurer of the Madison County (Illinois) Bar Association.

A native of Edwardsville, Ill., Hanson previously served as recording secretary for the Madison County Bar Association. He is a member of Greensfelder's Litigation practice group, representing companies in a variety of commercial litigation matters. Previously, he served as an assistant state's attorney in the Madison County State's Attorney's Office.

Hanson received his J.D. from Southern Illinois University School of Law. He also holds a Master of Arts from Eastern Illinois University and a Bachelor of Science from Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

The Madison County Bar Association serves more than 400 attorneys and residents of Madison County, which is part of the greater St. Louis metro area.
