

Hughes Hubbard Expands Arbitration Practice With Partner Remy Gerbay in Washington, D.C.

Hughes Hubbard & Reed LLP is pleased to announce that Remy Gerbay has joined the firm as a partner in the Arbitration group in the firm's Washington, D.C., office.

Gerbay's practice focuses on international commercial and investment arbitration, and related litigation. He represents clients across various industries including energy, infrastructure, transportation, pharma, banking, and telecommunications. Trained in the U.S., U.K., France and Switzerland, Gerbay has extensive experience with arbitration under the rules of the International Chamber of Commerce, the London Court of International Arbitration (where he served as deputy registrar), ICSID and other arbitral institutions.

Gerbay holds a permanent academic appointment at the University of London (Queen Mary), where he is the director of an LL.M. program in international arbitration.

Gerbay joins from MoloLamken, where he was a partner. He has a French law degree from the University of Lyon, a Masters from the University of Geneva's Graduate Institute, an LL.M. from Georgetown University Law Center, and a Ph.D. in arbitration law from the University of London.