

Imperva Appoints Brad Steiner as General Counsel and Chief Compliance Officer

“Imperva, Inc., the cybersecurity leader whose mission is to protect data and all paths to it, announces Brad Steiner as General Counsel and Chief Compliance Officer. He will lead the company’s legal team, and oversee corporate governance and compliance, reporting to CEO Pam Murphy. Brad brings,” reports Business Wire in their blog.

“A wealth of legal and compliance experience for global, high growth, and public companies that underpin our next phase of growth,” says Murphy. “His business acumen and keen legal insights will enable us to leverage our reputation and brand in the market as trusted advisors while continuing to take market share. Steiner held senior,”

Read the article.