

Internet Legal and Investigative Research on a Budget

☒ MyCase, developer of web-based practice management software for lawyers, has posted a free on-demand webinar about conducting cost-effective legal and investigative research.

Carole Levitt and Mark Rosch, principals of Internet For Lawyers and co-authors of six ABA Internet research books, including Internet Legal Research On a Budget and The Cybersleuth's Guide to the Internet, are presenters for the webinar.

The webinar offers tips on how to search like a cyber-detective, gather investigative information using expensive databases for free, use databases like Casemaker and Fastcase, become an expert searcher using Google Scholar, FDsys, and PACER, and decrease research costs with free (or low-cost) Internet sites.

Watch the video and see the slide deck.