J. Michael Wilson Joins Bradley's Tax Practice in Charlotte

Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP is pleased to announce that J. Michael Wilson has joined the Charlotte office as a partner in the firm's Tax and Trusts and Estates practice groups. The addition of Mr. Wilson highlights the firm's strategic growth of its transactional practices in Charlotte specifically, as well as throughout its geographic footprint. He joins the firm from McGuireWoods.

"We are excited to welcome Mike to Bradley," said Bradley Charlotte Office Managing Partner Christopher C. Lam. "Bringing Mike on board, combined with the recent addition of Kent Jones and Josh Stone in our real estate and finance practices, broadens the scope of our transactional capabilities in the Carolinas as we continue to expand the services we provide our clients."

Mr. Wilson focuses his practice on taxation, mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, and fund formations, representing clients in a variety of industries, including healthcare, manufacturing, defense, technology, food and beverage, real estate, and renewable energy. He regularly represents private equity funds, strategic buyers and sellers, lenders and borrowers, and closely held businesses. Mr. Wilson also has significant experience structuring real estate transactions, including joint ventures, acquisitions, development, sales, like-kind exchanges, and conservation easements.

Prior to practicing law, Mr. Wilson was a tax consultant with Arthur Anderson. He earned his J.D. from the University of North Carolina School of Law and his B.S. in Business Administration with a concentration in Accounting from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.
