Jeffrey Hart Joins Wilson Elser's Michigan Office as Of Counsel

National law firm Wilson Elser announces that Jeffrey C. Hart has joined the firm's Detroit Metro office in Livonia, Michigan, as of counsel. Prior to joining Wilson Elser, Hart was of counsel with Segal McCambridge Singer & Mahoney.

Hart litigates employment, complex commercial, product liability, medical malpractice, transportation, general liability, professional liability and workers' compensation matters.

An accomplished attorney with more than 280 cases tried before various administrative agencies, judges and juries, Hart represents Fortune 500 companies, cities, universities, hospitals, physicians groups and individuals in civil and criminal matters.

"Jeff is a welcome addition to our Metro Detroit office," said John Eads, regional managing partner of the office, in a release. "His experience representing clients across a broad spectrum of practices and industries adds tremendous value to the counsel we provide our clients and to our office – one of the firm's newest. The clients who accompany Jeff will benefit from his role as their one point of contact for Wilson Elser's national, full-service platform."

Hart believes in staying abreast of the most recent developments in the legal sector and is affiliated with several bar associations, including the American Bar Association, DRI: The Voice of the Defense Bar and the State Bar of Michigan, and maintains memberships on numerous committees within each group.

Committed to pro bono service, Hart volunteers with the Homeless Experience Legal Protection (H.E.L.P), a program offered through Sts. Peter and Paul Jesuit Church's Warming Center that assists homeless men and women with legal issues.

Hart earned his B.A. degree from Michigan State University (1992) and his J.D. degree from Loyola University Chicago School of Law (1995), where he served on the editorial board for the Loyola Consumer Law Reporter and on the advisory board for the publication's predecessor, Loyola Consumer Law Review.
