

Jenny Adamson Joins Parker Poe's Development Services Team in Greenville

Services Industry Team, which helps clients navigate the entire life cycle of real estate projects.

Adamson is the former general counsel of a national real estate developer and has approximately 20 years of experience in real estate and commercial development. She has deep experience advising on industrial, multifamily, self-storage, master planned communities, timber and natural resources development, and other commercial properties.

Prior to joining Parker Poe, Adamson served for more than seven years as general counsel for Johnson Development Associates, Inc. (JDA), which is based in South Carolina and has offices and developments across the country. As general counsel, Adamson oversaw the myriad legal issues surrounding development, construction, and operation for JDA, from letter of intent to closing, contract negotiation, project finance, employment issues, regulatory compliance, supervision of outside counsel, and more.

Adamson is also a founding charter member of Commercial Real Estate Women (CREW) Upstate. She earned her law degree from the University of South Carolina and her bachelor's degree from Furman University.
