Kodak Promotes Deputy General Counsel to GC

Eastman Kodak Co. , the Rochester-based printing technology company, has promoted Deputy General Counsel Sharon E. Underberg to General Counsel. She replaces Patrick M. Sheller, who has been with the company since 1993, reports the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle.

The move is one of an array of changes in Kodak's top management in recent months. Since CEO Jeffrey J. Clarke took over in March, Kodak has made such headquarters changes as new chief financial officer, chief human resources officer, and chief marketing officer.

Read the story.