

Larry Nassar Abuse Survivors Reach $380 Million Settlement with USA Gymnastics

“More than 500 female gymnasts who were sexually abused by Larry Nassar, the former national gymnastics team doctor, have agreed to a $380 million settlement with USA Gymnastics and the United States Olympic & Paralympic Committee. The settlement – one of the largest ever for a sexual abuse case,” reports The Athletic in their blog.

“The funds would compensate girls and women who were abused by Nassar or someone else in the sport. Olympic gold medalists Aly Raisman, Simone Biles and McKayla Maroney, and seven-time NCAA gold medalist Maggie Nichols are among those who’ve spoken publicly about Nassar exploiting his role as a physician to abuse more.”

Read the article.