Law Grads Have Had Job Offers Rescinded at 49% of Surveyed Law Schools

"Law grads have had employment offers rescinded at 49% of the law schools surveyed by the National Association for Law Placement," reports Debra Cassens Weiss in ABA Journal's Latest News.

"Hardest hit were graduates of schools in the Southeast region, where 57.5% of the schools reported rescinded offers; and schools with more than 750 students, where 61% reported rescinded offers. "

"Rescinded offers were most common in private practice. Among schools that reported rescinded offers, 85% said private sector employers had done so."

Read the article for more findings.

Read the article.