

Lawadvisor Partners With Barclays, Law Firms, on New Legal Ops Tools

“Legal tech company LawAdvisor is unveiling two new products for corporate legal departments and law firms with the help of Barclays plc and several law firms, including Bird & Bird,” reports Sara Merken in Thomas Reuters’ Westlaw Today.

“The London-based company said it worked closely with a ‘steering group’ that included the financial services giant and other international law firms such as Paul Hastings, Allen & Overy, Simmons & Simmons and Ashurst to get a better sense of challenges facing the legal industry.”

“The new products, which are customizable, have already been available to a select group of LawAdvisor’s clients, said Brennan Ong, the company’s CEO and founder. With Tuesday’s launch, the products are more widely available.”
