

Lawyer Accused of Shooting Driver Said to be 'Inching Forward' into Protesters

"A 49-year-old Canon City man remains hospitalized after being shot during a downtown protest" by an Alamosa attorney, reports Meg Colwell in Alamosa News.

The man was in critical but stable condition.

"Law enforcement identified a suspect, 27-year-old Alamosa resident James Marshall, and subsequently placed him into custody ... Marshall was charged with attempted 2nd Degree homicide, 1st Degree assault, reckless endangerment, felony menacing, criminal mischief, illegal discharge of a firearm, and prohibited use of weapons. Marshall reportedly is an attorney with a second-story office in downtown Alamosa."
