

Lawyer Arrested After Assault Rifles, Large Drug Stash Found in His Staten Island Home

Police arrested a Staten Island lawyer in the middle of international drug-smuggling investigation, reports Jeff Bachner in New York Daily News' NYC Crime.

"Michael Don was arrested Wednesday at his Noel St. home near Barclay Ave. in Annadale, where investigators found AK-47 and AR-15 rifles, three pistols and 1,000 pills of Tapentadol, a highly-addictive opioid."

"Don, who runs his law practice from his home, is facing multiple drug- and weapons-possession charges. He was ordered held on $50,000 bail at his arraignment Thursday."

Read the article.