Legal Tech Spend at $3B and Growing: Whitepaper

Mitratech has published a white paper titled “Catching the Wave: Legal Technology Spend at $3 Billion and Growing,” based on a comprehensive third-party survey of the domestic legal technology landscape. That paper is now available for free downloading.

The company said the survey was conducted to help understand the trends impacting the legal technology landscape, the size of the legal technology market, and the growth rates across each segment of that market.

Goals were to discover: What are the trends impacting the legal landscape and how are they impacting demand for 3rd party legal software? What is the structure of the buyer landscape and how does it segment by size? And how much is currently spent on software by legal departments and law firms today?

Download the white paper.