Lighthouse Brings Precision and Cost Savings to Review with Focus Discovery

Lighthouse eDiscovery, a leader in technology-enabled ediscovery services and consulting, today unveiled its new service organization, Focus Discovery.

Lighthouse says its latest offering deploys a unique combination of substantive assessments and technology applications to reduce document volume, organize, prioritize, and clarify document review, thereby reducing the overall time and expense spent on review, hosting, and production.

Lighthouse reports its service:

- Reduces review volume by providing substantive recommendations to eliminate irrelevant documents.
- Improves efficiency by organizing, prioritizing, and bringing greater clarity to review.
- Ensures precision by narrowing the potential review corpus and increasing relevance rates.
- Lowers time and cost by eliminating non-relevant documents at a fraction of the time and cost of linear review.

“Focus Discovery utilizes a technology driven approach to substantive culling, accelerated review, and categorization to reduce the volume of documents subject to eyes on review by counsel,” said John Olson, director of Focus Discovery. “Our team can achieve an in-depth understanding of your case goals and data, apply technology, and perform a substantive initial review and categorization prior to any traditional linear review. Utilizing Focus Discovery, clients can expect increased relevance rates, lower review and hosting costs, and a more concentrated set of review documents.”
