

Limitations of Liability in Artificial Intelligence Contracts

“Limitation of liability provisions place limits on the amounts that the parties would otherwise be able to recover in court.” Rob Scott of Scott Technology Attorneys in the blog discusses how “Broad limitations of liability in IT contracts have given way to more balanced approaches where certain types of claims are carved out from the limitation altogether.”

“Limitations of liability clauses in AI contracts are particularly important given the unsettled nature of the law in this area.”

Read the article.