Littler Adds Shareholder in Orlando

SHAREHOLDER JESSICA TRAVERS RETURNS TO LITTLER'S ORLANDO OFFICE
Travers is the Second Shareholder to Rejoin in April

ORLANDO, Fla. (April 27, 2021) – Littler, the world's largest employment and labor law practice representing management, has added Jessica T. Travers as a shareholder in its Orlando office. Travers, who rejoins from Akerman LLP, practiced at Littler from 2010 to 2017. Her arrival comes after Lisa Kathumbi's return to the firm's Columbus office earlier this month, marking the second shareholder to rejoin the firm in April.

Travers has extensive experience advising large, multi-state, employers in an array of industries, including energy, hospitality, retail, e-commerce, technology, and transportation and logistics. She represents clients in federal and state courts and agencies, appellate courts, and arbitral forums. Jessica provides counsel on a wide range of employment matters, including employment policies and procedures, internal investigations, accommodation requirements, leaves of absence, wage-and-hour compliance, employment-related agreements, terminations, discipline, disability access laws, and manager and employee training.

Travers regularly speaks and publishes on workplace legal issues and is regularly recognized as a leading labor and employment lawyer by Chambers USA and The Best Lawyers in America®. She earned her J.D. from the Tulane University Law School and her B.S. from the University of Florida.
