

Little Adds Shareholder Jacqueline Mrachek in Minneapolis

Little, the world's largest employment and labor law practice representing management, has added Jacqueline A. Mrachek as a shareholder in its Minneapolis office. Mrachek joins from Faegre Baker Daniels, where she co-lead the firm's employment litigation practice.

Mrachek counsels and defends companies in a wide range of employment law matters, including harassment, discrimination, retaliation, wage and hour compliance, drug and alcohol testing, and disability and medical leave requirements. She also regularly conducts workplace investigations and counsels on the enforcement of noncompetes, restrictive covenants and other employment contracts. Mrachek has represented employers before the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the Minnesota Department of Human Rights, and has extensive experience in such sectors as automotive, retail, financial services, health care, insurance, manufacturing and medical devices.

Mrachek received her J.D. from Mitchell Hamline School of Law and her B.A. from College of Saint Benedict. She is a former president of Minnesota Women Lawyers and serves on its advisory board.