

LITTLER ELECTS FIVE NEW MEMBERS TO 2024 BOARD OF DIRECTORS

(January 24, 2024) – Littler, the world's largest employment and labor law practice representing management, has elected five new members to its 2024 board of directors: William Anthony (New York), Kristine Grady Derewicz (Philadelphia), Danielle Herring (Houston), Charlotte Main (Atlanta) and Stephan Swinkels (Amsterdam). Additionally, Michael Wilder has been reelected as board chair.

"I am excited to welcome this talented group to the firm's board," said Erin Webber, Littler's managing director and president. "Each of these individuals brings a range of leadership experience to the table and will be integral to furthering our strategic vision and ensuring that Littler maintains its position as the world's leading employment and labor law firm."

"I am again honored to serve alongside such an impressive group of colleagues," Wilder added. "We will undoubtedly benefit from their collective insights and perspectives as we continue to focus on Littler's path for the future."

The 2024 board is reflective of Littler's unwavering dedication to fostering a culture of inclusion, equity and diversity. Its diverse members – attorneys who identify as women, of color and/or LGBTQIA+ – make up nearly 60% of the board.
