

Lowenstein Sandler Named a 50 Best Law Firm for Women for Fifth Time

Lowenstein Sandler has been recognized for a fifth year by Working Mother and Flex-Time Lawyers as one of 50 Best Law Firms for Women as a leader in the industry for its best practices in retaining and promoting women lawyers.

In a news release, the firm said its support of flexible schedules and time away from the office, telecommuting privileges, generous leave policies and parenting perks, along with full-time work demands that take into account work-life balance are just a few of the perks that make Lowenstein Sandler a prominent place for women to work. "We are proud to be recognized for our continued commitment to the professional advancement of women in the legal industry" says Donatella Verrico, Chief Human Resources Officer.

Adds Chairman and Managing Partner Gary M. Wogens, "Lowenstein Sandler has long been committed to supporting women in the legal workplace dating back to our founder Alan Lowenstein, a social justice pioneer, who was deeply devoted to creating a positive environment for colleagues of all backgrounds and experiences. We're honored to receive this recognition for the fifth time."
