

Matthew Agnew Joins Bradley's Healthcare Practice Group in Dallas

Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP is pleased to announce that Matthew J. Agnew has joined the firm's Dallas office as a senior attorney in the Healthcare Practice Group.

Bradley's Dallas office has tripled in size since it opened in January 2019 and has reinforced the firm's strengths in its litigation, finance, corporate, fintech and emerging business practice areas. In addition, the firm has grown to more than 50 lawyers located across its offices in Dallas and Houston, and more than 70 lawyers licensed in the state, allowing the firm to handle a wide variety of legal matters for its clients in Texas and beyond.

Agnew advises healthcare companies on legal issues pertaining to business transactions and regulatory compliance, and defends healthcare companies against fraud, waste, and abuse allegations. His experience includes advising clients on merger and acquisition, divestiture and joint venture transactions, general regulatory compliance, payer-provider billing disputes and reimbursement and overpayment issues. He routinely handles matters before the State of Texas' regulatory boards, U.S. Health and Human Services' agencies, and the Department of Justice.

Agnew earned his J.D. from the University of Kansas School of Law and his B.A. from Wichita State University.
