

Meeting the Corporate Challenge: Becoming a High-Performance Legal Team

✘ LexisNexis CounselLink offers a complimentary on-demand webinar on how to take your legal department's performance to a higher level.

On its website, the provider says the webinar covers some of the fundamental aspects involved in getting a legal department started on the right path, including creating a clear definition and measurement metrics to match your business strategies.

The webinar also covers determining which technology "levers" will give good returns in efficiency, financial performance or collaboration with outside firms. And presenters talk about taking credit for the results achieved to set the foundation for further growth and success.

Presenters for the webinar are Dan Ruderman and Bill Novomisle.

Watch the on-demand webinar.