Merrill DataSite Publishes Contract Management Systems White Paper

 Merrill DataSite has published a white paper on the technical feasibility of contract management systems.

A Merrill spokesman said the paper outlines everything you need to know about potential technical challenges and contract management systems. The paper can help arm someone with all the tools needed to make the best choice and get IT on board – plus look and sound very smart.

Download the white paper.

About DataSite

Merrill DataSite is a complete, secure virtual data room solution that optimizes the due diligence process by overcoming the many limitations of a traditional paper data room. Accessible from an Internet browser, Merrill DataSite dramatically reduces transaction time and expense and allows for multiple parties and prospective buyers to participate concurrently in the due diligence process.