

Mitratech Partners With Huron Legal to Enhance Analytics and Benchmarking Platform

As legal analytics and benchmarking become an increasingly important tool for the office of the general counsel, Mitratech, a provider of Enterprise Legal Management (ELM) solutions, has announced that Huron Legal's Sky Analytics solution has qualified as a Certified Legal Analytics Partner.

"Leveraging the power of legal analytics drives tremendous value for legal departments seeking to improve their overall performance," noted Jason Parkman, Mitratech CEO. "Huron Legal's Sky Analytics solution offers exceptional insight into legal benchmarking data, and our mutual clients are already realizing the benefits of combining their own internal analytics with benchmarked law firm data. As a long-time partner of Huron Legal, we look forward to deepening our relationship through this program."

Huron Legal's Sky Analytics solution provides in-house legal departments with a web-based platform to access on-demand legal spend information and analytics. The platform provides a snapshot of legal matters handled by outside counsel and other vendors as well as access to similar information provided by other participating companies for purposes of benchmarking. The dashboard also offers legal departments key performance indicators and trend metrics which can be flexibly analyzed, including by time frame, practice area and business unit. Huron Legal's Sky Analytics law firm scorecards measure and benchmark specific activities of law firms and lawyers, including rates, billing practices, staffing and matter efficiency.

"The combination of Mitratech's ELM platforms with the Sky

Analytics solution's real-time legal benchmarking platform creates powerful visibility and transparency for legal departments," said Doug Ventola, Huron Legal Managing Director. "Many of Mitratesch's clients were some of the earliest adopters of Sky's solutions, and we are excited to now bring this partnership to their rapidly growing client base at large."

Mitratesch's Certified Legal Analytics Partner program certifies analytics providers that offer market-leading solutions, deliver a unique value proposition to legal departments, can be integrated with Mitratesch's award-winning ELM platforms, and that are fully trained on Mitratesch products.
